

Formed in 1995 to construct and operate a high-throughput grain handling facility, Great Sandhills Terminal Ltd. (GST) is an innovative, competitive producer-owned agribusiness dedicated to quality customer service. Majority shareholder of a shortline railway and minority shareholder in the Alliance Grain Terminal located at Vancouver, GST's primary business is receiving, cleaning for export and shipping a variety of cereal grains.

Situated near Leader, Saskatchewan, one of the sunniest places in North America, this growing business is poised to welcome two motivated individuals to their team.

Operations Manager

Reporting to the General Manager, you will manage all aspects of GST's grain business including the budget. You will oversee the daily maintenance of the facility, and be responsible for quality control of the grain inventory. You will assist in timely grading of on-farm samples, the grading of deliveries, the development of customer deals and weekly inventory report. You will oversee marketing staff, review monthly grain evaluations and financial statements, confirming that the grain audit breaks even, and ensure that 90% of grain shipments unload as export ready. You will also monitor and ensure that, in addition to you, all staff members have completed and adhere to ISO/HACCP standards.

Managing the operations of a company in a fluctuating market, you must be able to adapt quickly and plan strategically to minimize risk. A keen knowledge of the grain handling and agricultural industry both within Canada and internationally will assist you in dealing with this rapidly changing market. You have a relevant post-secondary degree and 5-7 years progressive experience, with at least three in a management or leadership role in grain handling, agriculture or a related business. Your strong human resource skills will allow you to successfully motivate your staff, conduct performance reviews, hire additional staff and identify training requirements.

Grain Processor

Reporting to the Plant Supervisor, the Grain Processor performs duties related to the receipt, storage, cleaning, blending and shipping of grain. You have 3-5 years experience in grain grading and/or cleaning, preferably in a terminal elevator environment. A flexible and creative problem solver, you have the ability to analyze information and make decisions in a fast-paced environment, always adhering to corporate policy. You are known for your exceptional customer service and relationship building skills, consistently conducting business with a smile.
